Green Machine With Side BBQ

Outdoor Stainless Steel Pizza Oven

Product Code: Cove Oven

Outdoor Stainless Steel Pizza Oven

About the Green Machine Outdoor Oven

Cove's 82kg Green Machine is the ultimate universal outdoor accessory, which allows you to stone bake Italian style pizzas and other exciting dishes. The removable coal grill that hangs on the ovens side allows you to BBQ at the same time. Pizza ovens are a great way to bring the whole family together, and are a fun way of introducing children to cooking. The simple to construct stand with wheels, allows the oven to be easily moved around the patio making it a lot more versatile than traditional static brick-built ovens.

The oven has a stainless steel inner shell and a painted steel outer shell. Sandwiched between these two layers is a fire retardant insulated layer, that locks the heat inside the oven in a very similar way to traditional brick ovens. The oven is almost cool to touch on the outside thus proving the insulated core is working well.

The oven chamber itself is 700mm Deep, 460mm Wide and 270mm High. The oven can fit a sizeable pizza or anything you fancy cooking in the oven; its uses are endless. The advantage of having a stone base, is that the heat stored in these stones is transferred directly through the pizza / bread that is placed directly on it. The oven will retain the heat for hours and is perfect for cooking other dishes including lasagne and casserole.

The oven's radiating stone base and insulated layer allows users to cook thin, Italian style pizza in as little as 2 minutes!

Choose The Perfect Outdoor Oven

Why Are We So Cheap?

This is a very common question and the answer is simple: this pizza oven is designed by our team, constructed in our factory and distributed directly from us to you. We are also an internet-based company with no showroom, so all of these factors combined means we can offer a fantastic pizza oven at a very good price.

Important Information

PLEASE READ - The Green Machine outdoor pizza oven comes with a temperature gauge above the top oven. We have found this "smokes up" and gets very dirty and difficult to read, We are asking people to keep this in mind before buying and not rely on this gauge - we suggest a hand held temperature gun like this one on eBay - they are a lot more accurate and reliable.

As others have alluded to, the instructions can be hard to follow at times - we were particularly stumped with the axel for the wheels, which seemed like it should be the most simple part!

However we managed in the end to get it all completed. The finished product looks good, and everything looks to be of a nice quality.

We tested it the other night and came out with some cracking pizzas - the oven worked wonderfully. We were recording heats at the top of the oven as being above 400 C, but on the outside it topped out around 160 C. It looked as if the insulation was doing a good job.

All in all I am very happy with the product and am definitely recommending this to others.

Hi

In response to the below I am more than happy to provide feedback.

The ordering process was very simple and delivery was quick. Everything you would want. Assembling the stand could have been made easier with better instructions. I am adept at DIY and regularly complete all manner of jobs. However this did take some looking at in order to assemble and a few things had to be taken apart and redone as the ordering wasn't quite apparent. That said it took about an hour instead of what could have been half an hour so not the end of the world.

Once assembled we have been really pleased with the result. The product is really well made and finished superbly. It feels really substantial. Heating up doesn't take long at all with kiln dried hard wood and the pizzas were way beyond expectation. After two goes and really impressing some close friends I couldn't be more impressed. Thank you.

A friend at work bought a Pizza Oven from the Ideal Home Exhibition for a small fortune and I was instantly keen to join the club but didn't fancy a remortgage just to own one so the search began.

I found Stove World UK after a Google search and was amazed by the price but as usual in this world I expected the quality to be not that good but as it fitted my budget I thought I'd take a leap of faith on the reviews alone and how glad I am that I did.

I received my Green Machine Pizza Oven in just 2 days after ordering and it arrived beautifully packaged on a pallet. The assembly instructions were easy to follow and I soon had it set up. The oven is a work of art with all the fittings being stainless it will last for ever and as soon as it stops raining I will be cooking everything outside from this day forward.

Thank you Stove World for your excellent service and superb quality oven I couldn't be more pleased with it. Youtube review and pictures to follow.
